Transforming the way our customer's manage their waste

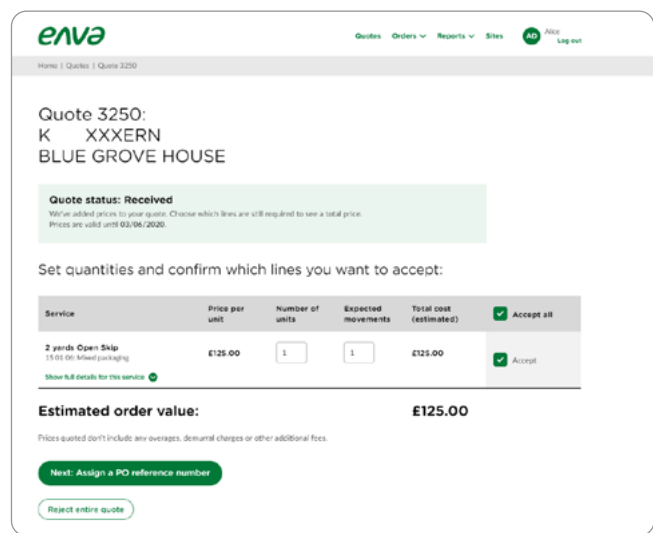

Transforming the way our customer's manage their waste

At Enva, we seek to understand, share learnings and improve how our customers waste resource is managed, this is backed by investment in technology, innovation and a dedicated team of experts.

MyEnva customer portal, developed with our customer's requirements at the fore, is our bespoke online platform for customers to instantly view their waste management service details.

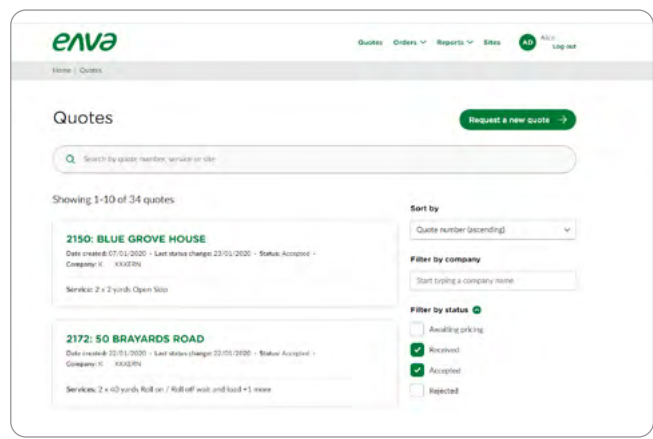

Our customers benefit from easy to use and 24/7 access technology, whether requesting a quote, immediately confirming a service movement, viewing invoices and orders, or actioning strategic waste management reports detailing spend, recycling rates and end destinations.

We don't simply collect waste - we transform it - helping our customers realise both commercial and environmental benefits.

Order, track and manage Enva services

MyEnva portal is transforming the way our customers manage their waste. Our bespoke platform enables customers to order, track and manage services, at a time and place to suit.

We are adopting a group wide approach to managing and recovering waste to maximise value to Enva, our customers and the environment.

environment matters

Keep track of quotes and prices online
 However you raise a quote - over the phone, in person, or online - you'll be able to see it in MyEnva. Review quotes across your sites, see prices, and accept services, through your computer, tablet or smartphone.
Raise orders and get the services you need, fast
 Once you're happy with a quote, you'll be able to quickly convert it to an order.

 Customers can access historic orders and view service details in one place. With customer feedback, we're incorporating a useful purchase order burndown notification to aid budgeting and administration.
Track movements across your sites
 Through MyEnva, see which waste streams are being collected, and when, across each of your sites. You can access weights and tickets for each movement, as soon as they are uploaded by the supplier, and all in real time.
'Just in Time' exchanges and collections
 Ad hoc collections and exchanges of containers on customer's sites can be fulfilled 'just-in-time' via MyEnva, at the touch of a button, providing service flexibility and associated cost savings.

Customer portal

✓ Compliance assured - transparency and traceability

The platform has been designed to meet waste transfer note and other legal compliance documentation storage requirements (equivalent to EDOC). The MyEnva portal delivers full transparency on duty of care with waste transfer notes, movement confirmations and end destinations, all being available with easy access.

✓ Customer reports - control costs and drive sustainability

MyEnva portal provides direct access to existing customer reports, providing the management information needed to review spend, recycling % rates and waste movements. This information, combined with the knowledge of our team of expert account managers, ensures waste is managed as a resource to bring our customer's commercial and environmental benefits as part of a strategic waste management partnership.

The availability of accurate and detailed information, including contamination reports, will allow the Account Manager to identify any further training, signage or support that may be required to meet targeted recycling percentages. Ad hoc reports can be produced easily from within the system, using flexible filter and search criteria.

Uploading weights, waste transfer notes, details of any wasted journeys, waiting time or contamination in real time, also allows for more accurate and timely invoicing.

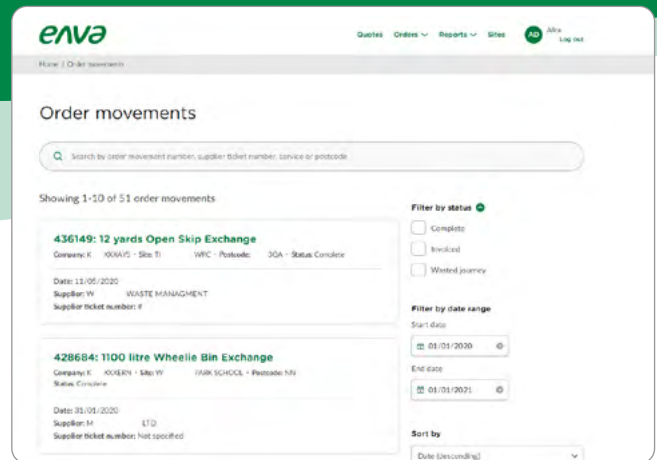

✓ MyEnva adapts with your business

Access to the system is provided securely, with hierarchy of information permissions enabled to provide companies with multi-site and divisional organisations control over access to relevant information.

We've designed the system to ensure one port of call, with API functionality built in, linking to other internal databases, ensuring our customers see up to date information presented clearly and in one place, at any time of the day.

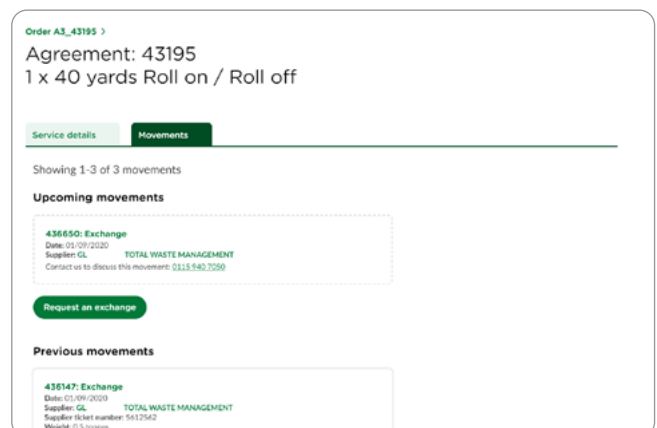

Our portal has built in flexibility to enable our customers to add and manage site details, which our construction sector customers particularly like as it helps with managing the continual flow of project start-ups and handovers.

In support, we have a dedicated team to assist with MyEnva customer enquiries. We invite customer feedback and seek to continually develop the portal in line with evolving markets.
